Upcoming Elections

November 3 is the day for anyone eligible to head to the voting poles! If you are not already aware, things are changing on the political front for Mount Croghan. Our current Mayor David Gordon, who has served the community well for many years, will not be seeking re-election. There are currently two candidates seeking the position of mayor. Dennis Penny states, "I would be a mayor with the public's interest at heart." Candidate Kevin Griggs states, "As mayor, I will be available to all of the residents and community and will serve each and everyone to my fullest ability." The town council is also seeing several changes this election. Current council members William Price, David Deese, and Tammy Hewett have chosen not to seek council seats this term. In their stead Lisa Johnson, Lillie Mae Gordon, and Susan Jordan are all unopposed. Current member Jesse Jordan will retain his position. Take an active role this election season and vote!

Homecoming A Success

The threat of rain did not prove strong enough to keep current and former residents from enjoying the annual Hometown Homecoming. With the Shoppe nearing completion, folks gathered inside to enjoy the days activities. Administrative Clerk Dell Chapman stated, "We had the largest crowd in attendance since the inception of this event that enjoyed delicious food, live entertainment, fellowship, beautiful weather, and great door prizes." Days prior to the big event, volunteers gathered in downtown Mount Croghan to clean up trash, pull weeds from flower beds, and spread pine needles. The rain never made an appearance and children were able to play football and jump on a bounce house provided by the town. The museum was open for anyone interested in viewing some of Mount Croghan's rich history. Visitors and residents alike joined together for a day of celebration in a fun, family friendly environment. Door prizes were awarded periodically throughout the day and ranged from telephones and gift cards to honey and hats. Live music was provided by Marty Vanderlip who has performed for the homecoming several times in the past.
